WHY STUDY AT THE AICS

The Australian Islamic College of Sydney (AICS) was established in 1997. During this period the College has provided excellent service to the local community and educated hundreds of young men and women who serve both in Australia and internationally in various capacities. With the efforts of the school management and the support of the local community, the AICS has grown rapidly and now prides itself on being one of the largest Islamic school in Western Sydney serving a vibrant multi-cultural Muslim community. The College has one of the largest Masjids in Sydney on its premises and as part of the daily school routines the students pray in the Masjid.

The College is in very close proximity to public transport. The train station is a 10 minute walk and a bus stop is directly outside the school grounds.
